Long term outlook - what was said last year

Few question longer term growth in steel, however material price pressure likely to continue for near term

- The Chinese economy has proven not to be immune from the Global credit crisis and expectations of widespread recession
- China's own economy has been affected by decreased exports, tighter credit (somewhat centrally mandated), material slow down in residential & industrial construction, energy shortage and loss of confidence having "over paid" for assets around the world
- However...
 - Credit is now being relaxed
 - A substantial stimulus package has now been introduced in the last two weeks... focused on both tax stimulus and infrastructure spending
 - Growth rate 8-9% now forecast by a range of analysts (on a ~US$4 Trillion economy)
- The key questions...
 - Impact on April 09 iron ore prices?
 - How long will the "hiatus" last (i.e. steel & iron ore de-stocking)

Events

The actions of defaulting customers placed MGI under unprecedented financial pressure...

- Rapid deterioration in the spot price for iron ore
- Spot volumes evaporated
- MGI customers sought to defer and cancel shipments
- MGI customers breached offtake agreements

Appropriate Response

Failure to act appropriately threatened MGI as a going concern...

- Reconfigured business to preserve cash
- Three customers terminated
 - Sinom (Hong Kong) Limited (Sinom)
 - Pioneer Iron and Steel Group Ltd (Pioneer)
 - Rizhao Steel Holding Group Co Ltd (Rizhao)
- Secured short, medium and long term offtake agreements for available production
- Raised funds
 - Rights issue – A$96.5 million
 - Placement – A$66 million
- Pursuing terminated customers through arbitration for loss and damage
- Revised operational development strategy

Historic production growth and current forecast

Production growth will continue from 2009-10 after disrupted growth during 2008-09

Observations

- Quality of customer is more important than number of customers
- Legal reciprocal contractual rights enhances performance and relationship
- Relativity of spot price and contract price drove customer behaviour
- Mount Gibson has demonstrated the strength of its contracts with its long term offtake customers and is confident that the strength of these contracts will be further demonstrated in current arbitration proceedings
- MGI's relative size and influence in the iron ore market was disabling however no producer was immune to the downturn in the market
- MGI's vulnerability given the relative stages of operations development
- Staged approach to project development reduces risk appreciably
- Support of major shareholders is omnipotent
- Banks supportive but predatory
- Strong cash position is vital
- MGI's transparency to the market and its shareholders was and remains unquestionable

Outlook

- Current demand appears strong which is reflected by China's iron ore imports and the relative spot to benchmark price
- Fundamentals of the medium to long term steel industry appear strong which will translate to strong demand and increased capacity
- Eventual recovery in other Asian, European and American market likely to stimulate further demand
- State Government welcomed MGI's proposal to build, own & operate the upgrade to the rail unloader at the Geraldton Port and has elected to retain ownership of multiuser port facilities whilst informing MGI that the GPA is in the process of submitting a proposal to State Government to upgrade the existing rail unloading facility
- MGI will continue to grow its production base particularly at Koolan Island and Extension Hill
- Tallering Peak will yield strong cash flows through to closure in 2013 at projected iron ore prices
- MGI has strengthened the customer base
- MGI is in a strong position to grow the existing business, acquire carbon steel related projects &/or businesses and diversify the commodity base
